

EXPV003_Santorini_Burn_Out ep

The third 12" release on Exprezoo is by another of our flagship artists, the same Santorini everyone has already begun to appreciate thanks to his recent releases on Bond, Recycle and Loudbit, whose style is perfectly in key with our idea of deep house: his "Burnout" contains each of the elements that made us fall in love with this kind of music, mixing relaxed atmospheres and hypnotic grooves in a blend that sounds perfect not only on a big sound system in a dancefloor, but also to be listened to with tiny earplugs, on your own.

On the other side, our quest towards finding new talents continues: the big task to rearrange the original track is given to Roberto Bardini, already known for his release on Plastic City, who puts the focus on the bass part clearly steering towards the dub side of techno, and The Selph, coming from his recent release on Apnea, who turns "Burnout" into one of the sexiest tunes of the year by ripping the rhythmic section completely apart and turning the break into a huge climax.
